BLAINE OF MAINE.

HIS PERSONAL MAGNETISM—HIS GREAT

WEALTH—HIS DRAMATIC POWER.

Washington letter in Chicago News.

Blaine was very active at the outset of the war in procuring contracts for some of his Maine friends, and in that way laid the foundation of his subsequent wealth. It is one of the charges made against Mr. Blaine that he entered congress a poor man and has retired a millionaire, at the close of a continuous service as a public official with a salary which would in no year pay the expenses of his private household. When Mr. Blaine first came to congress his private fortune amounted to fully $250,000. With great opportunities since to develop his original capital he has certainly gathered together a fortune which is estimated by some in the neighborhood of $10,000,000. He has a phenomenal memory for names and facts. This is a very important element for a political leader. The lack of such a power was the means of defeating

Carpenter for re-election to the senate, when

Angus Cameron was returned. A certain

Madison banker had contributed much money to secure Carpenter's election, through sheer admiration of his brilliant intellect. One day this banker went to Washington to visit his senator, and Carpenter did not know him. He did not know him. The banker was stung to the very heart of his pocket-book.

He went home, unlocked the vault of his bank,

and told the boys to haul out all the money

he could get. He then returned to Washington, and told Mr. Blaine of his experience. Mr. Blaine said: "Wait, and I will write you my opinion. This you can use in any way you please except to say it came from me."

"No," I prefer to write it down at my dictation."

Mr. Blaine then sat down at his dictation table, and upon a great pile of blue paper, began writing with the greatest rapidity, scratching his thoughts with a great splintering, grey goose-quill pen, that groaned, creaked, and almost squeaked under the enormous pressure of Mr. Blaine's firm white fist.

Three or four sheets were covered when Mr. Blaine said: "There, you may copy that."

"But why not let me have your copy?"

"I will keep it carefully, and will value it afterward as your autograph manuscript."

"I should prefer to give you an autograph manuscript on some other subject," said Mr. Blaine.

"If you want that opinion you will have to copy it."

When it was copied, Mr. Blaine held the manuscript in his hand for a moment, gazing

at it as if he were gazing at a moment, gazing

at it as if he were gazing at a moment, gazing

at it as if he were gazing at a moment, gazing

at it as if he were gazing at a moment, gazing

gether and taken a pledge not to cream any girl who bangles her hair.

Three hundred and four suits for divorce were brought in Cuyahoga county, O., last year, seventy-one of them on the ground of marital indolence.

It is estimated that the consolidation of the Montana, Idaho and Utah

U. S. Revenue Districts will cause a saving of $200,000 annually.

The Niagara hotels will make a good thing out of Captain Webb's fatal adventure. The whirlpool has already become a great center of attraction.

One firm in Gates county, N. C., owns thirty miles of narrow gauge railway, connecting five of its saw-mills. It is the largest lumber business in the state.

A Long Branch belle recently wore four different costumes before din-

PRESIDENT ARTHUR and party are being driven through the Sweetwater country in three spring wagons. They made 101 miles in two days. The President sat on the front seat beside the driver. The party arrived at Fort Washakie, Wyoming Territory, to-day.

STATE TREASURER SMITH, during his trip to the east, paid out $500,000 for interest on local indebtedness of counties and cities in Illinois. Gen. Smith reports the Republicans of New York and Pennsylvania thoroughly united.

SENATOR WADE HAMPTON, of South Carolina, is of the opinion that Southern manufacturers need protection, in which view he differs from the Democratic party. He also declares himself in favor of Senator Bayard as a candidate for the Presidency, and against "the old ticket."

The railway from Manitowish to Pike's Peak, in Colorado, is progressing. The route is not fully decided upon, and surveyors are still working busily. The road will be narrow gauge, the length from 25 to 30 miles. Trains of three cars will be run, each carrying forty persons.

RICHARD SMITH, of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, predicts that Forsaker's majority will not be less than 10,000 in Ohio this fall, and will more likely reach 25,000. At the rate Hoadly is making enemies and disgusting people he won't have friends enough to hold an election in October.

The Chicago and Alton has declared its intention of withdrawing from the St. Louis freight pool. The reasons given are that the Illinois Central carries only 5 per cent. of the business, but is allowed 20 per cent. by the pool arrangements, the difference being paid in cash every month.

REV. WILLIAM COLE, a Boston Baptist preacher who left his home fourteen months ago with a horse and buggy, has just returned to Boston from a point some distance from Minneapolis, Minn., having driven in all over 3,000 miles. Mr. Cole is much interested in educational matters, and during his journey visited over 400 schools. He was the modern schoolmaster abroad.

On the 1st of October, when the reduced rates of letter postage go into operation, two new postage stamps are to be used. One is a two-cent stamp, bearing the venerable and revered face of George Washington; the other a 4-cent stamp containing the determined phiz of Andrew Jackson. The old two and three now in use will disappear.

MRS. KATE CASE'S fine estate near Washington, called Edgewood, is beautiful, while its owner roams in Europe. She left a little over a month ago, with her children, for a five years' tour abroad. The grounds are kept in tolerable order by the servant in whose charge they were put by her, but the great house with its rich furnishings stands precisely as she left it, and the acres around it lie uncultivated. The neighbors do not understand why no one keeps them under cultivation.

NATURE, in a mood of uncommon, not to say lavish, liberality, has provided a recently-born Alabama girl with three tongues. If this singularly gifted young lady should ever reach years of maturity and get married it is safe to say that her husband will not overstay his limit at the club more than once.

BARNUM will visit Decatur on Sept. 14th. Said a good church woman sitting on his doorstep: "Yes, I took the children to the circus yesterday afternoon to see the animals. We went no further than the menagerie and were astonished both by the intelligence of the elephants, and the strength and daring of the young woman who hung head downward from a trapeze and held her big brother up by her teeth. The works of nature, brethren, are wonderful!"

SPECIAL EXCURSION TRAIN.
The L. E. & W. Railway will run a special excursion train, Aug. 15th, 1883, to the great National Military Encampment at Indianapolis, Aug. 15th to 17th, 1883. Train leaving Decatur Aug. 15th, at 4:30 a. m., arrive at Indianapolis 10:45 a. m. Returning, train leaves Indianapolis at 11:30 a. m., arriving at Decatur 4:30 a. m. Tickets will be good to return on any regular train stopping at the station named on the ticket until Aug. 15th, inclusive. Round trip tickets, only $3.00. C. L. HILDEBRAND, Trav. Pass. Agent.

A DARK RECORD.

A Prominent Lawyer Killed by His Wife, While Asleep.

The Shooting Accidental—A Confessed Murderer Suicides—A Brutal Mother—A Tramp's Favorite Crime—Other Offenses Against Law and Order—Better News.

BALTIMORE, August 8.—L. L. Conrad, a lawyer prominent in professional and society life, was shot and killed Monday night at his home near Glydon, in Baltimore county. Mrs. Conrad has been suffering from illness some time, accompanied by evidences of insanity. Conrad was a native of New Orleans and son of Hon. William B. Conrad, Secretary of War during Fillmore's administration.

Conrad and his wife, the latter a confirmed invalid for years, came to Bloomfield, where her mother, Mrs. Mary G. Worthington, and her brother, John Tolly Worthington, live, Saturday, to spend the summer. Mrs. Conrad has for years suffered excessively from neuritis of the stomach, which has produced nervousness and insomnia. Worthington brought Conrad's mail to him from Baltimore last evening, and when he got home Mrs. Conrad was almost frantic with pain. While Conrad was reading his letter Worthington held his pistol in his hand and frequently called him to come to her and said she could not bear him to leave her. When tea was announced Mrs. Conrad said she was so nervous she could not sit down, and she walked up and down the room. She took a little cream and then held her bowed face in her hands saying it made her pain even more intense. Mr. Conrad asked her several times how she felt.

"OH, MY LOVE," she answered, "my nerves are setting me wild." Shortly after that Conrad gave her an inhalation of oxygen, recommended by Philadelphia doctors. This was given her about 10 o'clock. He then gathered up the things he used for her comfort during the night and started up stairs, carrying a lighted candle, carrying Mrs. Conrad in his arms. He then left the room, and Mrs. Worthington and Conrad prepared the invalid for bed. Between 10 and 11 o'clock Mrs. Conrad went to the door of the sick chamber to get a lamp, to set in the hall door. Conrad gave it to him, and this was the last time he saw Conrad alive.

About 12:30 Mrs. Conrad ran screaming into her mother's room, which adjoined the one occupied by herself and husband. She was terrible excited and cried out, "Oh, my God, I have killed my husband." Mrs. Worthington, who is old and infirm, got out of bed and, followed by her daughter, proceeded to the other room. Here, to her horror, she found her son-in-law dead, blood oozing from a wound in the back of the left ear, and a Remington revolver of 22-calibre on the bed. Death had been instantaneous. The relations between Conrad and his wife have always been of the most tender and friendly character. They had been married 14 years.

John Tolly Worthington was awakened by the screams of his mother. Neither had a pistol shot. He ran toward the death chamber and met his sister talking about it. He said "When I saw my sister she was terribly excited. 'My God,' she said, 'my God, Tolly, I am the meaning of the word murder.' I am the meaning of the word murder." Conrad lay on his side in the bed. I picked up one of his hands which hung over the side and felt his pulse; it was just as if he were dead. I then turned to the bed, she tried to go to her husband, but was too weak to walk. I carried her into another room and put her to bed with her little son, Tom. She also said: 'My God, I have killed my husband. I had the pistol in my hands and it went off by accident.'"

It is not known where Mrs. Conrad got the pistol. She said that she got a pistol from a friend who told her whether this is the case. Mrs. Conrad has often said she wanted to die, and to live in this misery was worse than death. The relations between herself and husband have been very tender. She never could bear to have him out of her sight, and he idolized her and gave up his business to attend her. His whole life was devoted to her comfort. They have been married for fourteen years; they have one son, aged ten. He knew nothing of his father's death till the news was broken to him this morning. The impression of the news is that Mrs. Conrad intended to kill her husband and then herself. The pistol was held within an inch of Mrs. Conrad's head. The friends disprove this and think Mrs. Conrad was awakened, and in attempting to take the pistol away from her wife, who intended to kill herself, it went off by accident.

Mrs. Conrad's mother was the granddaughter of Lawrence Lewis, nephew of Gen. Washington, who married Miss Nellie Curtis. The jury returned a verdict of accidental shooting.

ST. PAUL, Minn., August 8.—Ex-Senator Conkling, ex-Secretary Boutwell and the party who passed through St. Paul a short time ago, returned late Monday night and yesterday morning went to Minneapolis, where they spent several pleasant hours, returning to St. Paul about 2 p. m. They remained in their special car at the depot and received a number of special calls from residents and prominent visitors. The two gentlemen declined to be interviewed further than to express their unbounded satisfaction with their trip. They left for Chicago at 7:45 p. m.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., August 8.—A special train from Huntsville, Ala., started here at a point on the mountain near here yesterday William Jones, one of the most prominent young men in the community, was in a swing, and while swinging at a great height the rope broke and he fell to the ground, striking his head and breaking his neck. His death was instantaneous.

She took a little cream and then held her bowed face in her hands saying it made her pain even more intense. Mr. Conrad asked her several times how she felt.

"OH, MY LOVE," she answered, "my nerves are setting me wild." Shortly after that Conrad gave her an inhalation of oxygen, recommended by Philadelphia doctors. This was given her about 10 o'clock. He then gathered up the things he used for her comfort during the night and started up stairs, carrying a lighted candle, carrying Mrs. Conrad in his arms. He then left the room, and Mrs. Worthington and Conrad prepared the invalid for bed. Between 10 and 11 o'clock Mrs. Conrad went to the door of the sick chamber to get a lamp, to set in the hall door. Conrad gave it to him, and this was the last time he saw Conrad alive.

About 12:30 Mrs. Conrad ran screaming into her mother's room, which adjoined the one occupied by herself and husband. She was terrible excited and cried out, "Oh, my God, I have killed my husband." Mrs. Worthington, who is old and infirm, got out of bed and, followed by her daughter, proceeded to the other room. Here, to her horror, she found her son-in-law dead, blood oozing from a wound in the back of the left ear, and a Remington revolver of 22-calibre on the bed. Death had been instantaneous. The relations between Conrad and his wife have always been of the most tender and friendly character. They had been married 14 years.

John Tolly Worthington was awakened by the screams of his mother. Neither had a pistol shot. He ran toward the death chamber and met his sister talking about it. He said "When I saw my sister she was terribly excited. 'My God,' she said, 'my God, Tolly, I am the meaning of the word murder.' I am the meaning of the word murder." Conrad lay on his side in the bed. I picked up one of his hands which hung over the side and felt his pulse; it was just as if he were dead. I then turned to the bed, she tried to go to her husband, but was too weak to walk. I carried her into another room and put her to bed with her little son, Tom. She also said: 'My God, I have killed my husband. I had the pistol in my hands and it went off by accident.'"

It is not known where Mrs. Conrad got the pistol. She said that she got a pistol from a friend who told her whether this is the case. Mrs. Conrad has often said she wanted to die, and to live in this misery was worse than death. The relations between herself and husband have been very tender. She never could bear to have him out of her sight, and he idolized her and gave up his business to attend her. His whole life was devoted to her comfort. They have been married for fourteen years; they have one son, aged ten. He knew nothing of his father's death till the news was broken to him this morning. The impression of the news is that Mrs. Conrad intended to kill her husband and then herself. The pistol was held within an inch of Mrs. Conrad's head. The friends disprove this and think Mrs. Conrad was awakened, and in attempting to take the pistol away from her wife, who intended to kill herself, it went off by accident.

Mrs. Conrad's mother was the granddaughter of Lawrence Lewis, nephew of Gen. Washington, who married Miss Nellie Curtis. The jury returned a verdict of accidental shooting.

A Prominent Lawyer Killed by His Wife, While Asleep.

The Shooting Accidental—A Confessed Murderer Suicides—A Brutal Mother—A Tramp's Favorite Crime—Other Offenses Against Law and Order—Better News.

BALTIMORE, August 8.—L. L. Conrad, a lawyer prominent in professional and society life, was shot and killed Monday night at his home near Glydon, in Baltimore county. Mrs. Conrad has been suffering from illness some time, accompanied by evidences of insanity. Conrad was a native of New Orleans and son of Hon. William B. Conrad, Secretary of War during Fillmore's administration.

Conrad and his wife, the latter a confirmed invalid for years, came to Bloomfield, where her mother, Mrs. Mary G. Worthington, and her brother, John Tolly Worthington, live, Saturday, to spend the summer. Mrs. Conrad has for years suffered excessively from neuritis of the stomach, which has produced nervousness and insomnia. Worthington brought Conrad's mail to him from Baltimore last evening, and when he got home Mrs. Conrad was almost frantic with pain. While Conrad was reading his letter Worthington held his pistol in his hand and frequently called him to come to her and said she could not bear him to leave her. When tea was announced Mrs. Conrad said she was so nervous she could not sit down, and she walked up and down the room. She took a little cream and then held her bowed face in her hands saying it made her pain even more intense. Mr. Conrad asked her several times how she felt.

A New Parsonage.
Mr. Henry Kain is engaged in building a two-story frame dwelling containing 9 rooms, adjoining St. James' German Catholic church in the fourth ward, which is to be used by Rev. Father Laumert as a parsonage. The building is nearly completed. It will make a comfortable home for the pastor where he can rest and receive his friends.

Union baptism.
On next Tuesday afternoon at the weather is favorable there will be a union Methodist baptism at the Maffit Ford. About 20 of the probationers at Stapp's Chapel will be immersed, together with about 50 from the First M. E. church. The rite will be administered by Rev. J. F. Dittmatt, assisted by Rev. Musgrove.

GEORGE KELLOGG, a convict in the Joliet penitentiary, sent up from Logan county for two years last September, committed suicide yesterday by strangling himself with a necktie. Before killing himself Kellogg said to his keeper: "I am the man that committed the double murder at Atlanta." The confession probably had reference to the murder of McMahon and his two farm hands near Mt. Pleasant last summer. A full account of the suicide will be found in our telegraph columns.

A Brilliant Affair.
Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bering entertained a large company of friends at their palatial home last night in honor of Miss Loeffler, of Philadelphia. The leading feature of the occasion was a fashionable German, for which Wilhelm's orchestra furnished the music. Those present were Mayor and Mrs. W. B. Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Ewing, Mr. and Mrs. L. Burrows, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Quinlan, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Brueck, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. Sherry Jones, Mrs. Fannie Sedgwick, Misses Ida, Louie and Mattie Jones, May, Jennie and Edith Rogers, Nellie Doolittle, Maude Burrows, Belle Ewing, Dora and Lulu Waleton, Edna Hale, Annie and Cora Chambers, Laura Johns, Ollie Oglesby, Grace McCoughtry, Jessie Fenton, Lelia Race, Meta Battelger, Miss Lena Dunning, of Springfield, and the Misses Moore, of Kentucky, and Messrs. B. Z. Taylor, Thornton, Frank and Ed. Powers, Charles F. Armstrong, L. L. and B. Burrows, F. R. Shull, Frank Curtis, J. W. Clugston, Bert J. Hardy, George Dodson, Arthur and Joe Alexander, Albert Barnes, Tom McReynolds, Will Quinlan and Lou Race.

A Dude Clown.
One of the most amusing features of the Barnum, Bailey & Hutchinson combination is the dude clown. This individual is an exact copy of his prototype as is seen every day loitering around the hotels in New York, and whenever he makes his appearance in the tents he attracts the closest attention, and causes uproarious applause. A peculiarity of this clown is that he never enters any of the rings, but confines his operations almost wholly to the reserved seats. His costume is that of the regulation dude—high crush hat, eye glass in one eye, small, neat umbrella, light overcoat (when not too hot), so short as to disclose the tails of an inner one beneath it, tight-fitting dark breeches, and patent leather pointed gutters. Tan colored gloves complete the costume of this burlesque type of the community so often seen on "first night" in the lobbies of the metropolitan theaters. He will be in Decatur with Barnum's Jumbo show on September 14th.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Miss Mattie Gorin is home from a year's visit at Dallas, Texas.

Rev. and Mrs. Prestley are expected to arrive home this week from Cincinnati.

Dora Cole is the name of the new clerk at H. B. Cole's drug store, not Hiram.

Secretary D. L. Temple is home from Sparta, where he has been spending a brief vacation very pleasantly.

Rev. T. E. Madden, pastor of the Methodist church at St. Joe, Ill., spent last night in Decatur.

Thomas Andrews departed for St. Louis yesterday to make arrangements for an expensive improvement—he is soon to commence at his establishment.

Constable Harris and F. M. Garver had a break-down in the country Thursday afternoon. They didn't get home until late in the evening.

Charles Nowell, the Central telegraph operator, is on the sick list, and is too weak to handle a key. He had a severe congestive chill last night.

Mrs. J. H. Fearo, of Columbus, Ohio, sister-in-law of Mrs. L. N. Colton, arrived in the city last evening, and will make a protracted visit among Decatur relatives.

Rev. Gilbert De La Motte, who lectured on labor so ably in this city a short time since, has accepted a call to the pastorate of a prominent church in Denver, Col.

E. D. Bartholomew departed to-day for a five weeks' stay in New York where he will purchase a big stock of queensware and cutlery. He will go to Lake Bluff first to say good-bye to his family, and go from there to Pittsburgh, thence to New York.

Grand Thomas Bivans, resident agent for the St. Paul & Gulf R. R., did not go to Kansas yesterday with the excursion, on account of business requiring his attention at home. He sent a good man with the party to look after the comfort of the excursionists. Mr. Bivans' office is at Hand's book store.

Frank W. Hardy, deputy postmaster, used to set type in his young days. The Hardy family located at Bloomington when it had but 500 inhabitants, as early as 1836, and a few years afterwards Frank began setting type on the McLean Register, the first paper ever published in Bloomington. He afterwards set type in what is now known as the Pantagraph office.

JOHN WARD and Owen Hart, of the rival street car lines, had a difficulty at the Union depot this forenoon, and both came to blows, in which it appeared that Hart got the worst of the fight.

THE SEWER QUESTION.

Action of the City Council to Avoid Suits for Damages—More Licenses Issued.

The adjourned meeting of the city council was held last evening, the mayor and all the aldermen present except Alexander and Shoemaker. The report of the committee recommending that the contract for the city printing be awarded to the Decatur Daily Republican for the coming year, was adopted.

The bond of James L. Gogerty, for a saloon license for three months, with F. S. Campbell, Fred. Kiny and Ed. Brennan as sureties, was presented and license ordered issued.

Thomas McMahon applied for a license for three months, giving Thomas, Flynn, H. Schlander and H. Post as sureties.

Ald. Lake objected on the grounds that Flynn and Post were not good bondsmen, and no action was taken then, but subsequently Gogerty introduced a resolution that McMahon be granted a license by Aug. 10th, on giving a bond subject to the approval of Ald. Lake, chairman of the finance committee. Adopted.

Young & Wisen were granted a license for three months, the sureties being Fred. Kiny, Ed. Brennan and B. Z. Taylor.

Ole Johnson again applied for a license for nine months, giving Andrew Rothfuss and Fred. Stern as sureties. Alderman Lake said he had investigated Stern's financial condition, and reported that he lacked a few thousand dollars necessary to make him a good bondsman; and Ald. Roberts remarked that the bonds should be good in every instance, because the saloon keepers more careful, and made their places more respectable. No action was taken. Ole Johnson wanted to know if $4,000, laid down on the table then and there, would fill the bill, and Lake answered, "no, it takes real estate, not money, to get a bond," and then Ole went out, and after a while Henry Schlander, man came in and signed the bond with Rothfuss and Stern, and the license was issued.

The plat, Quinlan's third addition to the city, was again presented, properly certified, and accepted.

Ald. Parke presented a resolution for a brick sidewalk in front of and on the north side of the tabernacle, which was adopted.

The same alderman asked that the property owners on the west side of North Main street, from Prairie north to city hall, be granted permission to put down a temporary sidewalk, at their own expense, without interfering with the present grade. Granted.

Messrs. W. B. Chambers and W. J. Quinlan's action in building a sewer to connect with the main, at their own expense, was ratified on motion of Ald. Parke.

The judges and clerks of the late special election in the fourth ward, were ordered paid $3 each, on a motion of Ald. Diehl.

The resolution of Ald. Dinneen that a gas jet be placed in the first ward calaboose was adopted.

The following resolutions were referred to the committee on streets and alleys:

By Dinneen—That a sidewalk be built on the west side of Jackson street, between North and Eldorado. By same, that a sidewalk be built on the north side of Eldorado, between Jackson and Water.

The resolution of Ald. Gogerty, that a culvert be put in on the alley across the branch on Calhoun street, was adopted.

Ald. Roberts introduced a resolution ordering an ordinance requiring property owners to keep their sidewalks in proper repair at their own expense, and it was adopted.

Ald. Dinneen offered a resolution to the effect that the Illinois Central railroad company be requested to put in a culvert at the Sangamon street crossing to give sufficient outlet for the back water.

Adopted.

PETITION REFUSED.

Decatur, Ill., Aug. 7, 1883.

To the Mayor and City Council.

The committee to whom was referred the petition of citizens in reference to sewer, on North Water street, respectfully report that, in our belief, the city's financial condition will not justify such an outlay at this time.

T. F. ROBERTS,
J. GOGERTY,
W. B. CHAMBERS,
H. C. OAKES,
Committee.

Report adopted.

CHAIN GANG COSTS.

The claim of Justice McGarry of costs on chain gang cases occasioned considerable discussion, as a refusal to pay the same by the city will probably inaugurate a strike among the several justices of the peace, because it is represented that they believe they are justly entitled to compensation for the important duty they perform in seeing that the ordinances are enforced. The matter seems to be open to discussion. A party of this kind is no fun for drinkmakers. He has no money. He is sent down to join the chain gang, and he works out his fine on the streets as a punishment for the violation and to satisfy the question against him. He is allowed by the city $1.00 a day credit on the execution for every day he works. When he works out the fine he is released by the marshal who returns the execution to the justice, satisfied by labor. But the justice gets no money, while the city receives the benefit of the labor performed by the prisoner. The justices think they should be paid the costs due them in such cases. It was suggested that the aldermen should vote on the subject, and if they vote to pay the $200 costs, claimed in these cases, on motion of Ald. Parke the claims were referred to Attorney Mills, with instructions to act as he thought proper. Mills suggested that an agreement be made up and that it be submitted to the circuit court for a decision, so that the dispute may be settled.

Ald. Lake said he had an order drawn for $200 for payment for the labor done on the new pump.

Mayor Chambers called the attention of the council to his action in ordering the enforcement of the ordinance in relation to compelling all owners of vehicles, wagons, hacks and drays to pay the stipulated license of $5 for six months and $5 for a year. No action was taken, though it occasioned some informal talk.

needed at that point, as it is a low place—a veritable mudhole—and some of the aldermen having objected on the grounds that the improvement would benefit only Mr. Hill, who desired to beautify his property, Mr. Parke warmed up and talked about the seemingly real purpose of the council to refuse to recognize any claim presented by the second ward, while thousands of dollars were being expended in other wards. The motion to adopt Mr. Parke's resolution was lost.

Ald. Lake introduced a resolution that the city furnish water free for two months for the sprinkling of Water street from the new square to Eldorado street and east to the Central railway, the property owners along the route to pay for the expenses of sprinkling the streets. There was another fight on this matter, but Lake carried his point. The vote stood 4 to 4, and the mayor voted in the affirmative.

The resolution of Ald. Roberts that a surface drainage be constructed from Eldorado to Prairie streets, between Broadway and Morgan streets, went to the committee on streets and alleys.

The resolution of Ald. Diehl that the street superintendent be instructed to close up inlets on the East Main street sewer, and that cobbling be done to carry off surface water, was adopted.

$15,000 FOR SEWERS.

The following resolution was introduced by Ald. Parke and adopted, Ald. Dinneen, Lake, Oakes, Parke and Schroll voting "Aye" and Ald. Diehl, Gogerty and Roberts "No."

Resolved, That the ordinance committee be instructed to draft an ordinance to be introduced to the council, for the purpose of constructing a sewer from the river to the present terminus of the third and fourth ward sewers.

The discussion on the adoption of the resolution was quite general. The mayor and Ald. Lake and Parke strongly advocated the measure. It was stated that to construct the Fourth ward branch of the sewer, 6 feet in diameter, with a 9-inch wall, from the Sangamon river to the East Main street culvert, would cost about $20,000, and perhaps a little less. The $15,000 would go a long way toward paying for this improvement, and that $3,000 of the regular fund which, if worked, could be used to complete the work. Those favoring the adoption of the resolution stated that the building of the proposed sewer outlets was a pressing necessity, inasmuch as the city could not continue to empty the fifth on the property of the people at the present outlets and escape the suits for damages now threatened by several parties who had borne the infliction long and patiently. It was admitted by the opponents of the resolution that proper outlets should be built, but they didn't like to borrow money and place the city in debt, because they believed the cost would greatly exceed $50,000. Ald. Lake stated again that he had secured the estimate of a good engineer who had told him that the cost would not exceed $25,000 a mile, and but two miles of the sewer outlets will be needed, the one to connect with the culvert on West Main street to be only 5 feet in diameter. After the adoption of the resolution, it was the sense of the council that the ordinance creating the "Sewerage Bonds," be drawn up for 5-20s, to run for twenty years, at 4 1/2 per cent.

It is the purpose of the council to proceed at once with this improvement, and spend $25,000 or $30,000 in building the 6-foot sewer in the fourth ward, to give outlets for the branches in the first, fifth and fourth ward sections of the city. The big sewer will pass the southern extension of the third ward sewer outlet, and the smaller sewer will empty into the new one until the 5-foot sewer in the third ward can be constructed. After the passage of the ordinance, if there is no hitch in the proceedings, the contract will be let, and the fourth ward sewer will be built this year, commencing at the river. The third ward sewer will not be built until some means are devised to raise the money by general taxation. The question will probably be submitted to a vote of the people. After the large outlets are built the city will probably be divided into sewer districts, and those living in the districts wanting these modern conveniences, will have to foot the bills. The council adjourned.
